An Obstacle.
"One of the troubles of merchandising in a small town," confessed the proprietor of the Wiggly Wabbly store in Peeweeendyump, "is that our people are too well acquainted with each other. Nearly every time I attempt to reason with a lady about the terrible injustice done to local merchants by customers patronizing mail order concerns in distant cities, she comes right back at me with the information that my own wife sends away five times as much money to the mail order octopuses—or octopi; I am not exactly clear as to which is the plural of octopus—as she herself does."—Kansas City Star.

POPULAR GIRL IS FULLY RESTORED

Miss DuBois Declares Tanlac Overcame Dyspepsia and Built Her Up Ten Pounds.

"Tanlac has built me up ten pounds, restored me to splendid health, and I don't hesitate to give it my highest praise," is the grateful statement made by Miss Margaret DuBois, popular young lady residing at 477 Pawling ave., Troy, N. Y.

"I suffered so badly from stomach trouble and a weakened, run-down nervous condition that I could hardly do any work. I was always in misery from the sourness, gas and pains after eating. My nerves were in an awfully excited state and I didn't know what it was to get a good night's sleep.

"My friend, Mrs. L. Bennett, of this city, told me I needed Tanlac. She was right, for my first bottle brought back my appetite, rid me of distress after eating, and now I am feeling like a new person. Tanlac is simply grand."

PLACE OF SCENIC WONDERS

Tribute to the Grand Canyon Brings It Vividly Before the Reader's Vision.

In the pulseless air, under the blue of the desert sky, a titanic chasm, stretching farther than eye can see. In its vast depths a great mountain range, carved by wind and water into palace and pyramid, obelisk and sphinx, pinnacle and turret, tower and dome. A wilderness of rugged, beautiful forms—not cold gray of rock or monotone green of forest, but glowing in red and blue and purple and orange melted and mixed by cosmic fires.

An abyss of ever-changing color and form. In the morning, delicately lovely with upcurling mists of faintest rose and palest lavender and purest white, through which peak and pyramid gleam. Under the glare of noon-day sun, overwhelming in stark form and burning hue. At twilight, asleep in soft purples and blues of night. Under the moon, a mystery of dim forms and faint shadows.

Majestic in sculptural beauty, dazzling in glorious hues; serene, superb, in the pulseless air, under the blue of the desert sky.—Christian Science Monitor.

Iron From Cuba.
Along the north shore of Cuba, near the sea at its eastern end, in three areas which formerly appeared to be simply expanses of barren ferruginous soil, recent exploration and test have shown that there exist deposits of a very pure iron ore, amounting to 2,000,000,000 or 3,000,000,000 tons. When deprived of the large percentage of water which it contains, this ore will yield from 40 to 45 per cent of iron. Ore from this source has already been exported to the United States.

LESSON FOR MAY 27

ISAIAH, THE STATESMAN AND PROPHET

LESSON TEXT—Isaiah 6:1-13.

ISAIAH 6:1. GLEAN TEXT—Here am I, send me.—Isaiah 6:8.

REFERENCE MATERIAL—II Chronicles 26:22; 32:20; Isaiah 15; 7:1-17; 8:1-4; 9:1-7; 11:1-10.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Isaiah Who Was Ready.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Isaiah's Call to Service.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Isaiah's Work for His People.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Isaiah, the Statesman and Prophet.

I. Isaiah's Vision of the Lord (vv. 1-3).

No one's ministry will ever be fruitful until he has had a vision of Jehovah. The scope of his tasks and the power to perform services will be lacking until he sees God.

1. He Saw the Lord on His Throne (v. 1). The prophet's gaze penetrated to the very throne of the eternal. We need not so much know things concerning God as to have a vision of Him, even to see Him on His throne. Surely now, as perhaps never before, with the awful darkness settling down upon the world and the foundations of culture and civilization, institutions and governments are tottering, we need a vision of the enthroned Lord.

2. He Saw the Seraphim Above (vv. 2, 3). Whatever form or rank these things have, they clearly are ministers of the Most High. Their standing indicates that they were in readiness to do His bidding. Their equipment with six wings shows the celerity with which they executed His will. In the Divine presence they find different uses for wings. One pair was needed to veil the seraphim's head from the "intolerable fulgurance" of the glory. One pair veiled the feet, which had been soiled in the execution of the commission. The third pair was suspended in midair while waiting to depart on any errand which the Lord willed. All ceaselessly cried, "Holy, holy, holy." The supreme attribute of Jehovah is holiness. It is for this that His creatures worship and adore Him. The treble repetition doubtless refers to the trine God. Holy is the One who created us, holy is the One who redeemed us and holy is the One who sanctifies and keeps us. From the position of God's throne they see the whole earth filled with His glory.

3. He Saw Manifestations of Majesty (v. 4). As the holy ones cried the very doors moved and the temple was filled with smoke. Smoke indicates the Divine presence in anger (Ex. 19:8; 20:18). This indicated that the selfishness, idolatry and ingratitude of Israel provoked God's anger.

II. Isaiah's Conviction of Sin (v. 6). When the prophet got a vision of the holy God he was smitten with a sense of sin. This is always true. The reason that men think well of themselves is that they have never seen God. Face to face with the Lord, Isaiah saw himself as wholly vile. He realized that he had sinned in speech and, if in speech, then in heart, therefore the cry of despair. He was not only guilty himself, but was living in the midst of an unclean people.

III. Isaiah Cleansed From Sin (vv. 6, 7). Having been convicted of sin and having made confession of it, a burning coal was taken from the altar to purge away his sin. His penitential guilt was forgiven and removed. Those unclean lips were refined by fire and, with pure speech, he expressed the holy thoughts of God. Only fire from God's altar can purge us from our sins.

IV. Isaiah's Call.

God did not call the prophet until after he was cleansed. The purged soul is the soul ready for the Lord's service. Indeed, the unconvicted, unforgiven and uncleansed soul cannot even hear the Divine call for service.

V. Isaiah's Dedication (v. 8). Following the cleansing from sin there was the quick response for service. The one purged and sanctified readily responds to the call of God. They did not inquire as to the issue, did not desire to see the end from the beginning, but with freedom came forward to serve.

VI. Isaiah's Commission (vv. 9-13). The previous outlook was not promising. He shrank back from the responsibility and instantly cried, "How long, Lord?" The people were steeped in selfishness and the Lord assured him that their blindness and sin, though long, would not continue forever. The people would go on in sin, to be taken captive and the land be made desolate.

Economy.
The regard one shows economy is like that we show an old aunt who is to leave us something at last.—Shenstone.

Conscience.
The worm of conscience is the companion of the owl. The light is shunned by sinners and evil spirits only.—Schiller.

Neighborhood Love.
Love your neighbor, yet pull not down your hedge.—George Herbert.

THE GOLD FISHES

Mr. Pekin Baxter and Mr. Tokio Jones, the two gold fishes, were chatting together in their gold-fish way as they swam about the fish-bowl in the living room.

They were enjoying themselves immensely. They had just had a very good meal, and they had not been given too much.

"It is strange," said Mr. Pekin Baxter, "but there are many people who feed their gold fishes too much. I hear the friends of our mistress talking, and they ask her such absurd questions.

"They say: 'If the fishes leave food untouched which you've given to them it shows you've given them too much, doesn't it?'"

"You don't want to give them so much that they could possibly leave any untouched, and the way to do that is to give them very, very little."

"For gold fishes eat more than they should when it is given to them, and when they leave food untouched it means they've been given a great deal beyond what they could possibly eat, and a great, great deal beyond what they should eat."

"Gold fishes have small stomachs; they're not taking great long swims and lots of exercise, and they shouldn't be fed too much."

"Yes, that is what our mistress tells her friends."

"And that is right, too," said Mr. Tokio Jones. "It is strange how ignorant people are about feeding gold fishes and how many of them think that as long as the gold fishes eat up all their food they've been given the right amount!"

"Dear me, it is surprising how ignorant people are."

"Well," said Mr. Pekin Baxter, "it is true that people can't read our thoughts—what few ones we have to read—and they can't tell unless they know just how much gold fishes want to eat, for people haven't the tastes of gold fishes, nor have they the stomachs of gold fishes, nor have they the wishes of gold fishes."

"Nor," said Mr. Tokio Jones, waving a fin, and grinning a funny grin, "are they gold fishes!"

"Well," said Mr. Pekin Baxter, "I'm glad when news about gold fishes is spread about, for we don't want to get sick, and our relations don't mean to be greedy, but when they see so much before them it is hard not to eat and eat and eat."

"Of course, too, it is hard to tell when we're not feeling well, for the way to tell about us not feeling well is a different way from the way people have of telling if they're not well or if their children are not well."

"When our little mistress does not seem to be well the doctor comes, and he says, 'Stick out your tongue,' and then he usually says:

"Ah, just what I thought! Yes, a little tonic will do you good."

"Or perhaps he says, 'Some medicine is what you need, and then you'll be all right.'"

"A tongue is most important to some, for it seems to be an excellent thing in its way of showing whether a person is well or not."

"Yes," agreed Mr. Tokio Jones, "with people a tongue is important; or, perhaps I should say, many tongues are important, for they all have one apiece."

"But with us it is different," said Mr. Pekin Baxter.

"We need our dorsal fins. They are all important; or, perhaps I should say, each one of us has a dorsal fin and it is very important."

"I think, perhaps, that is the correct way to speak."

"Some may not know what the dorsal fin is, but if they will look at you or me, or at any of the members of our family, they will see a fin which is spread up on top of our backs. It is a fine, straight, healthy-looking fin when we are well, but when we're sick that fin droops and does not stay out nice and smooth."

"So people can tell if the gold fish is well by the way his dorsal fin or the fin upon his back looks, and a person can tell if another person is well by the look on his tongue."

"So let the people have their tongues—they need them—but let the fishes have their dorsal fins."

"My dorsal fin is not wrinkled up—it looks like a handsome, outspread fan, and that shows I'm healthy, and yours is the same way, Tokio, and so you're healthy, too. Hurrah, splash, gurgle, bubble!"

"Stick Out Your Tongue."

Find What CANADA has to offer YOU!

If your dream of success seems like a hopeless ambition, if you are discouraged trying to get ahead on high priced land, if your present location fails to give you opportunity, there is a new deal for you, a new chance in the fertile, virgin farms of Western Canada, where wheat produces 20 to 40 bushels to the acre, where the 1922 crop was biggest in history, where oats, barley and hay and fodder crops are the basis of a great dairy industry, and a man's work brings him success and prosperity.

Low Priced Land—the Last Great West

In Western Canada you still can buy virgin prairie land at $15 to $20 per acre, on long terms if desired, near to town, railroads, etc.—land such as has for many years produced the world's prize winning wheat, oats, barley, flax, rye, alfalfa. Canada had no "war time" land boom; prices are not inflated—you get in on the ground floor.

Taxes Favor the Farmer as Values Increase

The tax laws of Western Canada encourage the producing farmer. The tax on land is reduced when it is brought under cultivation—while on your buildings, machinery, improvements, personal property, automobile, there is no tax at all. A single crop is often worth more, acre for acre, than the cost of the land.

Buy on Exceptional Terms—32 Years to Pay

For the benefit of those wishing to buy land a national non-profit sharing organization—the Canada Colonization Association—has been established with head office at Winnipeg, and United States office at St. Paul. This Association offers selected land convenient to railroads—much of it at $15 to $20 per acre—on very small cash payment, no further payment until third year, balance extended over thirty years, but purchaser may pay up and obtain title at any time desired. Interest six percent per annum on deferred payments.

Special Excursion Rates to Western Canada

In order that you may inspect the land—see for yourself—judge of its value and fertility—special excursion trips of inspection will leave United States points on the first and third Tuesday of each month. Single fare plus $2 for the round trip, available from all principal centers. Take advantage of these low railroad rates to inspect for yourself the opportunities which Western Canada has to offer you. Seeing is believing. The nearest Canadian Government Agency will give you all information. The men in charge are service of the prospective settler. We help you find your opportunity. Let us know something of your position and receive free book with maps, and information how special railway rates can be arranged for a trip of inspection. Mail the coupon.

LET NEW BRIDGE CONTRACTS

Contracts for new bridges over Willoughby Run on the Gettysburg-Fairfield road and over Miney Branch on the Zora-Fairfield road were awarded Tuesday by the county commissioners. W. H. Drawbaugh, of Dover, who is now making repairs to the Barlow bridge, was low bidder for the Willoughby Run bridge at $8,400. J. S. McIlvaine & Co., of Chambersburg, was the lowest bidder for the Zora bridge, the figure being $9,250, just $50 lower than the bid of Mr. Drawbaugh for this work. As soon as Judge McPherson gives his approval to the contracts let by the commissioners, work will be started on their erection, which, according to C. E. Tawney, clerk to the commissioners, may be this week. With the contracts let, the present board of county commissioners no doubt have brought an end to their bridge construction program of four years' duration. This program has netted the county 13 new bridges, and was the most extensive bridge program ever attempted by a board of commissioners.

NOT "MADE IN HAVANA"

In an order directed to George F. Hemler, proprietor of the Ano-Taro Cigar Company, of McSherrystown, the Federal Trade Commission has condemned the use of cigar labels and brands that are misleading to the public, according to a Washington dispatch. In its investigation of the case, the dispatch continues, the commission found that the respondent manufactured cigars and placed them on the market under the name of "Tampa, Florida," and that on the box containing such cigars the words "All Havana Hand Made" appeared. The commission further found, the report states, that the cigars so labeled were not manufactured in Tampa and were not made from tobacco grown in and imported from Havana.

GOVERNOR WILL SPEAK

Governor Gifford Pinchot on Memorial Day completes an engagement made for him by far-sighted Gettysburg people who before the primary election in 1923 determined to have the Governor of Pennsylvania deliver the 1923 Memorial address on Gettysburg battlefield. Representative Myers, of Gardners and State Senator Long, of Franklin county, have agreed to sponsor resolutions proposed by the Gettysburg Booster club, calling upon the members of their respective branches of the Legislature to accompany Governor Pinchot to Gettysburg for Memorial Day exercises next Wednesday. Invitations to join the Gettysburg Legionnaires will be extended to the Ira E. Lady post at Arendtsville, the George E. Snyder post at New Oxford and the Harold Bair post, of Hanover, as part of the celebration honoring Governor Gifford Pinchot.

3 McSHERRYSTOWN YOUNG MEN

TO BE ORDAINED PRIESTS

The names of the three McSherrystown young men, who will be ordained priests on Saturday, May 26, at St. Patrick's cathedral, Harrisburg, by the Rt. Rev. Dr. Philip R. McDevitt are Leo J. Krichten, son of Lewis F. Krichten; Bryan Weaver, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. X. Weaver, and Roy Keffer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Keffer. The ordination of three young men from the same town into the priesthood at the same time is a rare occurrence and will be made much of in McSherrystown.

It has been arranged to hold three high masses in St. Mary's church on Sunday, May 27, the first at 6:30 a. m., celebrated by Leo J. Krichten; the second at 8:30 a. m., celebrated by Bryan Weaver; and the third at 10:30, celebrated by Roy Keffer.

In coming down the home stretch in the 3rd heat of the 2:35 pace at York Springs, on Ascension Day, "Henry Clay" fell and turned a complete somersault. The driver, Zach Ford, of Hunterstown, was thrown in front of advancing horses but he scrambled off the track and was uninjured.

Mrs. Roy P. Funkhouser, who recently moved from Gettysburg to Harrisburg, has a chance of becoming leading lady with Rodolph Valentino, the celebrated movie shiek, in his next screen production, as a result of winning a beauty contest in Harrisburg.

LADIES! DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

Use Grandma's Sage Tea and Sulphur Recipe and Nobody Will Know

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is messy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get this famous old preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

Well-known druggists say it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark and glossy.

SULPHUR CLEARS ROUGH, RED SKIN

Face, Neck and Arms Easily Made Smooth, Says Specialist

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying a little Menthosulphur, declares a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation begins at once to soothe the irritated skin and heal eruptions such as rash, pimples and ring worm.

It seldom fails to remove the torment and disfigurement, and you do not have to wait for relief from embarrassment. Improvement quickly shows. Sufferers from skin trouble should obtain a small jar of Rowley Menthosulphur from any good druggist and use it like cold cream.

WOMEN'S CONFERENCE TO MEET HERE IN 1924

At the Adams County Conference of the Women's Missionary Society of the West Pennsylvania Synod which met in Trinity Lutheran church, East Berlin, Thursday, the principal address of the evening was made by Rev. Henry Einspruch, of the Salem Hebrew Mission in Baltimore. Rev. Einspruch spoke largely on the needs of missions among the Jews. There are but four Lutheran Hebrew Missions in the United States—one in Baltimore, one in Philadelphia, one in Pittsburgh and one in Toledo, Ohio. Of the 15 million Jews in the world, four million are in the United States, and the speaker stated they are the only people in the world today who are never asked into the church or Sunday School, yet it was the Hebrew who gave to the world the Holy Bible and the Christian faith. Rev. Einspruch was educated for a Rabbi but later accepted the Christian religion and is one of the greatest workers among his people in behalf of the Lutheran church at this time.

A playlet "Sunshine or Candlelight", by a number of young folks from East Berlin was well rendered. It is said over 500 persons attended the evening session. The president of the conference is elected by the general conference, but at the business session, Mrs. Clarence Naill, of Harney, Md., was re-elected vice president and Mrs. M. J. Ehrhart, of New Oxford, re-elected Secretary and Treasurer. Mrs. S. F. Tholan, of Biglerville, was appointed Conference Magazine Secretary. The First Lutheran church, New Oxford, Rev. W. M. Allison, pastor, was selected as the place for next year's meeting.

Enabling legislation was signed by Governor Pinchot Thursday for a soldier bonus to World War veterans if a $35,000,000 bond issue for the purpose is approved by the voters of the State. The Governor also signed a bill making it a misdemeanor to manufacture or sell any article falsely represented as archeological specimens. The former act places the control of the bonus distribution in the department of the adjutant general and specifies how applications for compensation are to be made. The act provides for payment of $10 per month to all legal residents who served in the military and navy forces for a period of more than 60 days. Compensation is limited to $200.

Misses Mary and Esther Reynolds, East Berlin, will graduate from the Millersville S. N. S. in June. The former has been elected a teacher in the York schools. A surprise party was held recently by Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Reynolds in honor of their daughter, Mary.

Twenty years ago he was married to Miss Charlotte Agnes Bunty, who survives with 9 children all at home; Also by his mother and three sisters, Mrs. Charles Jacoby, Mrs. John Timmins, Mrs. Eugene Ruhlman, of McSherrystown, and one brother, Harry Overbaugh, of Sellersville.

The Gettysburg Classis of the Reformed church meeting in annual session at Arendtsville, last week, adjourned to convene in its next annual session in St. David's church of the West Manheim charge. In addition to the Rev. W. C. Pugh, of Cashtown, President, other officers elected were: Hon. A. R. Brodbeck, V. P.; Rev. E. M. Sando, Hanover, Stated Clerk; Rev. M. J. Roth, Hanover, Treas.; Rev. E. G. Kline, Littlestown, Cor. Sec. The committee on Licensure and Examination consists of the Revs. A. S. DeChant, Hanover; A. P. Frantz, New Oxford, and Elder A. R. Brodbeck. A new charge was authorized at Hoffman Orphanage, the same to be known as "The Church of the Good Shepherd." It will start with 23 members. A committee was appointed to organize a congregation and install a pastor, who in all probability will be the Supt. Rev. A. H. Smith.

Sunday morning Rev. S. M. Mountz, pastor, administered the Holy Communion at Lower Bermudian church. A number of persons were received into the church at that time. Sunday afternoon, the Rev. Mountz confirmed a class of catechumens in the York Springs Lutheran church and administered the sacrament of the Lord's Supper. A number of persons were received into the church by transfer. The envelopes which had been distributed for the purpose of a special offering to be used for the repairs of the church were gathered on Sunday.

Whooping Cough—This is a very dangerous disease, particularly to children under five years of age, but when no paregoric, codeine or other opiate is given, is easily cured by giving Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Most people believe that it must run its course, not knowing that the time is very much shortened, and that there is little danger from the disease when this remedy is given. It has been used in many epidemics of whooping cough, with pronounced success. It is safe and pleasant to take.

The Bermudian Reformed S. S. has purchased a new piano for the church. The offering on Mothers' Day, $31, will be used toward payment.

Wesley Runk, Mt. Pleasant, sold his stone quarry to John Greenaway and Samuel Keller, of Hanover.

JUST GOT OVER A COLD?

Look out for kidney troubles and backache. Colds overtax the kidneys and often leave them weak. For weak kidneys—well, read what a grateful user says:

J. J. Eiker, prop. taxi business, 226 N. Stratton St., Gettysburg, Pa., says: "I had kidney trouble which came on through a cold. When lying in bed, my back hurt badly and every time I made a turn, a sharp, jabbing pain caught me in my back. During the day there was a constant soreness and pain in my back. My kidneys were inactive and I knew they were affected because the secretions were unnatural in color. I got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills and they helped me. A few boxes put my back in the best of shape and restored my kidneys to a normal condition."

THREE HURT NEAR EAST BERLIN

On Saturday evening about 9 o'clock, on the state road between Abbottstown and East Berlin, Robert Shaffer's touring car turned turtle. Mr. Shaffer was cut about the body and one leg cut to the bone. His two companions, John Topper, Abbottstown, and Raymond Berkelmer, of Farmers, had a few small cuts and bruises about their bodies. A machine that drove by picked the young men up and took them to Dr. T. C. Miller's, in Abbottstown. Dr. Miller dressed their injuries, and then took them to their homes. Mr. Shaffer claims that he was not driving over 30 miles an hour, and that an automobile drove around him, hit his front right fender, and turned him down over the bank. The car was taken to the Thomasville garage by Charles D. Witman and Harvey Shaffer.

Lumbago.—This is a rheumatism of the muscles of the back. It comes on suddenly and is quite painful. Every movement aggravates the disease. Go to bed, keep quiet and have Chamberlain's Liniment applied and a quick recovery may be expected. Mrs. F. J. Dann, Brockport, N. Y., writes: "I can honestly say that Chamberlain's Liniment cured me of lumbago a year ago last summer. When I began using it, I was flat on my back in bed and could not turn to the left or right. I had a bottle of Chamberlain's Liniment in the house and this was applied to my back. It promptly drove away the pains and aches."

The estate of the late Charles Newman, Hanover, who died on April 25, Thursday, was appraised at about $25,000. The executors of the will are the widow Mrs. Anna Newman and Alvin R. Nissly. The widow will have the use of the income from the estate during her lifetime. After her death the M. E. church and Grace Evangelical church, Hanover, will profit jointly by a division of the $25,000, or whatever the estate may actually be worth at that time, to be used for foreign mission purposes.

Rev. Dr. L. M. Zimmerman, of Baltimore, was re-elected president of the Gettysburg Lutheran Seminary Alumni Association, on Thursday, while the Rev. Earl J. Bowman, of Gettysburg, was elected secretary, succeeding Rev. Dr. J. B. Baker, former pastor at St. James Lutheran church there.

Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, high commissioner of baseball in the United States, spent sometime in Gettysburg Friday, during which he was shown over the battlefield. In Frederick, on Friday evening, Judge Landis was the special guest at a banquet of the Blue Ridge league teams' officials.

Granville R. Deardorff, of near East Berlin, reports having killed three black snakes within a week measuring 5 ft. 6 in., 5 ft. 4 in. and 4 ft. 7 in. respectively. He killed two of them on one shot.

The contest in the C. E. society of the East Berlin Lutheran church between the boys and the girls is arousing much interest.

H. W. Martin, Littlestown, recently received a sugar loaf pineapple that weighed 7 lbs., 4 ozs.

The road supervisors of Conewago township recently scraped the roads. Mr. Baublitz, Mt. Pleasant, purchased a Durant automobile.

Clean Kidneys By Drinking Lots of Water

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys if Bladder Bothers or Back Hurts

Eating too much rich food may produce kidney trouble in some form, says a well-known authority, because the acids created excite the kidneys. Then they become overworked, get sluggish, clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region, rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, begin drinking lots of good water and also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity; also to neutralize the acids in the system so that they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts can not injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to help keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus often avoiding serious kidney disorders. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

OXO-GAS

Made from Kerosene (Coal Oil) and Air
For Cooking and Heating

OXO-GAS Burners for All Purposes.
NO SMOKE, ASHES OR SOOT
POSITIVELY NOISELESS

The most efficient and economical method of producing heat from coal consists of extracting a gas from coal and burning the gas, but only about 35% of heat units are used in this way. In the ordinary stove only about 28% of the heat is utilized. OXO-GAS produced from common coal oil (kerosene), particularly when mixed with 96% of atmospheric air (oxygen), is the utilization of every heat unit of fuel.

CANDIDATES COMING FORWARD

Activity in political circles in Adams county continues unabated as weekly more candidates throw their hats into the ring for the approval of voters at the fall primaries on September 18. The date for securing signers to petitions of candidates is 60 days before the primary, or July 16. Since the beginning of the year, no less than 17 Democrats, among them one woman, Miss Edna Eicholtz, Dem., who aspires to be Register and Recorder, and 7 Republicans have announced their intention to stand for nomination at the primaries for elective county offices this fall. Of these a number on both sides have been candidates for elective offices in the county before. So far the largest number of prospective candidates have announced for a position on the Board of County Commissioners. In addition to the increasing number of candidates who have placed their political announcements in the Item the following are mentioned as being in the field for county offices: G. D. Morrison, Dem., and John C. Shealer, Rep., for sheriff; J. V. Ulrich, D., and Jacob Taylor, R., for county commissioner; Wm. J. Eden, R., former mercantile appraiser and defeated by H. E. Smiley four years ago, for Register and Recorder, and Harry Pitzer, R., of near Aspers, for Director of the Poor. Many more are expected to announce in due time. H. M. Geiselman, D., is also out for Commissioner.

M. H. Tagg, Littlestown, has been suffering from blood poisoning of the left hand. In February, while shoveling snow off his walk, Mr. Tagg rubbed a blister on his left hand between the thumb and first finger. He was wearing a pair of brown gloves at the time and paid little attention to it. Later he found it getting more painful. An examination by a physician proved that the hand was affected with blood poisoning. The thumb and first finger are nearly covered with painful blisters.

Evils of Constipation.—Perhaps the most serious of the diseases caused by constipation is appendicitis. If you would avoid this dangerous disease, keep your bowels regular. For this purpose Chamberlain's Tablets are excellent, easy to take and mild and gentle in effect.

Alderman Katherine E. Bentzel, of York, probably the first woman in the state to have the honor, on Thursday united in marriage Wm. H. Giles and Violet R. Miller, colored, both Yorkers. The York army recruiting station on Wednesday sent Robt W. Laughman, McSherrystown, to Camp Humphreys, Va., where he will serve with the Engineers.

Albert Benedict and Claud Wagner, Abbottstown, are working at Thomasville for the Baker Lime Company.

Police officers have been directed to confiscate all slot machines and punch boards found in operation in York.

Dealer H. J. March recently shipped two carloads of fine milch cows from East Berlin to the eastern markets. Mrs. Harry Mundorff, Locust Lane, is having her property repainted by Contractor Bixler and force.

Lerew & Smith, East Berlin, received another carload of Ford automobiles, recently.

The Western Maryland Railway will again run the popular excursions to Pen-Mar Park and Gettysburg on Decoration Day, Wednesday, May 30th. Robert Yingling and family moved from the A. H. Rebert farm to the home of his brother-in-law, Edward Bowers, near White Hall.

At the morning services of St. Paul's Lutheran church, Littlestown, Sunday the following officers were elected to serve two years: Elders, Luther Snyder, Dr. J. R. Riden; trustee, C. L. Mehrling; deacons, Luke Jacobs, Stanley Staub and John A. Mayers.

Sessions of the Adams County Conference of the West Pennsylvania Synod of the United Lutheran church came to an end Wednesday evening at St. John's Lutheran church, Littlestown. The sessions were attended by about 35 delegates, pastors and laymen, to whom luncheon and dinner were served at the church by the Ladies' Aid Society. Election of officers of the Adams County Conference for the coming year resulted in the Rev. George H. Evers, of Littlestown, for president; the Rev. W. M. Allison, of New Oxford, for secretary, and the Rev. Ralph Baker, of Fairfield, for treasurer. Fairfield was chosen as the place for the meeting of the Conference next May.

Despondent because of ill health, it is believed, caused Mrs. Gertrude V. Altland, widow of the late Attorney K. W. Altland, York, to commit suicide. Her lifeless body was found hanging from a blind cord in the hallway on the third floor of her residence Friday evening by her brother, Spurgeon F. Decker. How long the body had been hanging is not known, but Mrs. Altland was last seen alive by neighbors on Thursday noon. Since the death of her husband, about five years ago, Mrs. Altland had been in failing health. A chair which she was standing on to fasten the rope to the pipe and about her neck, she kicked from under herself. The deceased was 44 years old and is survived by her mother, Mrs. Frank Decker, Glen Rock, and several brothers.

At the meeting of the executive committee of the Hoffman orphanage, held in the parsonage of Emmanuel Reformed church, Hanover, Monday, three children were admitted to the home. Announcement was also made that the retaining wall, facing the roadway to the home, was in process of construction and that two artistic entrances to the home will be erected, to be known as the East and West entrances. The name of the donor has not been revealed. The superintendent, Rev. Andrew H. Smith, reported having visited all the sessions of the eight classes that support the home. In a number of them, efforts are being made to raise their quota for the central heating plant. The board, at its sessions last spring, decided not to erect the building and install the plant until the money was all in the treasury.

W. P. Stoner, Hanover, spent the weekend in Philadelphia, where he consulted a specialist regarding his arm which has not healed completely since amputation was necessitated by an accident. The physician stated that the arm showed no improvement.

In harmony with the increase in the price of milk and sugar, York ice cream Monday went up to $1.40 a gallon for retailers and other distributors—an increase of 10 cents per gallon. Consequently the ten cent raise added to each quart sold to the consuming public. Therefore, the retailer will get 40 cents increase on a gallon of ice cream while he pays but 10 cents to the manufacturer, says the York Gazette & Daily.

At the Palmer and Hufnagle factories, the two largest manufacturers of ice cream in Hanover, it is said that there is no necessity for an increase in the price of ice cream in this section, as farmers are bringing in large quantities of milk and that this is the season when there is a decrease rather than an increase in the price of milk and cream. This spring, however, there has been no drop in the price of milk.

The Clearview baseball club, near Hanover, Saturday defeated Bonneauville, 15 to 2. Batteries for Clearview, Myers and Klunk, and for Bonneauville, Bucher and Krichen. Sunday's game played at Mt. Stockholders of the City Bank of York, financially embarrassed by reason of the discovery of a million shortage in its funds, have received by mail notices to pay in full, within 30 days, the amount of their liabilities fixed by law at double the amount of their stock in the banking institution. The cashier, Thomas B. Baird and his assistant, William H. Boll, have admitted their responsibility for the shortage. Both are in prison unable to furnish the amount of bail required for their release pending a hearing. The amount of bail demanded for Baird's release is $225,000, and for the release of Boll $200,000. The stockholders of the bank are liable in addition to their stock to pay $250,000 to be put towards adjusting the bank's affairs. Less than $50,000, it has been estimated, of this amount will be collectable. All those who are able to pay will be forced to make the settlement required by law. The assessment notice contains no figures definitely fixing the amount of the shortage. Not only is the entire capital of the bank wiped out as a result of the shortage, but the amount that will be raised by the assessment on the stockholders, at least $200,000, will not wipe out the deficiency in the bank's funds. The re-organization plan is left largely to the depositors.

The electric light company will in a few days put in higher poles to raise the Abbottstown street lights several feet higher than they now are. In their present position the lights are often struck and damaged by large auto trucks with high loads. G. M. Freed is furnishing the poles for the purpose.

The band was under the direction of Prof. Jack Adams, of Harrisburg, who acts in an advisory capacity with the leaders. Prof. Adams rendered a cornet solo during the evening. About 1000 people were present, and 150 machines were parked near the bandstand.

Reuben Swartz, White Church, has sold the tract of timber on his farm to Lins & Stine, who will saw it out in the future.

Clifton Laughman, Maple Grove, recently purchased a 1923 Chevrolet touring car from Butt's garage.

Information charging assault and battery was sworn out Friday afternoon before Justice Hill by J. Warren Gilbert, Gettysburg, against Dr. Chas. H. Heldt, following an altercation between the two men in which Gilbert sustained a "black eye." According to Dr. Heldt, Gilbert with friends was sitting on a bench directly under an open window in his office, using obscene language. The physician went down and asked Gilbert to refrain from using such language, who, according to Heldt, with an oath said he had not been using foul language.

In the next instant, spectators saw Dr. Heldt's fist shoot out, striking Gilbert squarely in the right eye.

On last Thanksgiving Day, Calvin and P. H. Myers, York Springs, each purchased 10 head of steers thru a farmers' co-operative buying association. Calvin's steers at that time averaged 975 lbs. per head and P. H.'s bunch 1010 lbs. They sold the steers to a Harrisburg dealer recently and found that the animals had gained an average of 360 lbs. The farmers say that they received a good price for their grain fed in this way.

The Aspers baseball team played on their own diamond for the first time this year on Saturday, annexing a double win. The first was played against the newly organized Biglerville team. The second game with Mt. Misery was more of a batting test, neither Lupp for Aspers nor Smith for Mt. Misery finishing the game. Bartlett succeeded Smith and was later succeeded by Groff, who went into the box with only one out, three on base, and the score tied at 8 all. He was slammed by Heller for the first batter who faced him for three bases scoring three men.

TO THE SAILOR DEAD! Underwood & Underwood

Sleep on, proud heroes of America's wars, wherever you may lie. The fight you have made has been a blessing to mankind, and Americans in America see in a new light the tower of liberty that now faintly illumines the darkest recesses of the world. Your lives have not been given in vain. We weep because you are our kin, but we are proud that you so nobly fought and so nobly died and rejoice that you are in God's keeping.—Representative Charles Pope Caldwell of New York

By JOHN DICKINSON SHERMAN
SPIRIT OF Memorial Day, 1923!

We all know the purpose of Memorial day. We Americans assemble to commemorate our Nation's soldier dead—to express our love and gratitude for their service and devotion by strewing flowers on their final resting places, by recounting their deeds of valor and patriotism, by seeking new and deeper understanding of this national holiday, sacred, sanctified, glorified.

In one way it is a day of celebration, of hero worship unstinted and unashamed. We won our independence by fighting for it. We are not a warlike nation, but we are a fighting nation. There is no fighting man like the American fighting man. The Star Spangled Banner has never been lowered in defeat. So we celebrate the deeds of our fighting men.

But we do not assemble to awaken bitter memories of battle and slaughter. We do not meet to rekindle the vengeful fires of hate and passion. We do not gather to exult over the defeated. We do not come together to glorify war or to exalt militarism. We meet rather to dedicate anew the power and wealth and strength of the nation to liberty, humanity and justice.

Sea-fights and land-fights, grim and great,
Fought to make and to save the State,
Weary marches and sinking ships,
Cheers of victory on dying lips;
Days of plenty and years of peace,
March of a strong land's swift increase,
Equal justice, right and law;
Stately honor and reverent awe,
Sign of a nation, great and strong
To ward her people from foreign wrong,
Pride and glory and honor—all
Live in the Colors to stand or fall

This is part of what Memorial day means to the good American.

Too far away are Flanders fields
Upon his grave to lay
My roses and forget-me-nots,
My rosemary and bay;
A scarlet poppy on my breast
Will speak Memorial day!

Many a poppy will be worn in America on Memorial day. There are eight national cemeteries in Europe, six of which are in France, one in Belgium, and one in England. There are 30,587 bodies at present in Europe, distributed as follows:

Meuse-Argonne American cemetery, No. 1232
Romagne-sous-Montfaucon (Meuse), France, 13,938
Unknown, 483.

St. Mihiel American cemetery, No. 1233; Thiaucourt, Meurthe-et-Moselle, France, 4,231. Unknown, 157.

Somme American cemetery, No. 426; Bony Aisne, France, 1,530. Unknown, 154.

Oise-Aisne American cemetery, No. 608; Sermaing-et-Nesles, Aisne, France, 6,071. Unknown, 698.

Aisne-Marne American cemetery, No. 1761; Bel leau, Aisne, France, 2,220. Unknown, 221.

Suresnes American cemetery, No. 34. Suresnes, Paris, France, 1,497. Unknown, 2.

Flanders Field American cemetery, No. 1252; Watteghem, Belgium, 265. Unknown, 29.

Brookwood American cemetery, No. 1071; Brookwood, Surrey, England, 435. Unknown, 66.

Many of these American graves overseas—perhaps all—will be strewn with flowers. American initiative will do much. Admiring and grateful hearts will take many a Frenchman, Belgian and Briton to these graves with blossoms. It will be long before Europe forgets the American fighting men. Who won the war? Never mind, there is glory enough for all. Just the same the American doughboy left his impress. France may be irritated with America just now, but French mothers are still telling their children of the great size of the Americans, of their tender care of the young, of their kindness to the aged and infirm, of their romping over the barbed wire entanglements and jumping the trenches and storming the pill-boxes and routing the Hun. And they will go on Memorial day to the American cemeteries to strew flowers and to bless the nation that came with her men and her women; her material, money and efficiency—the nation that fed the hungry, succored the injured and freed the world.

Full soon the shell holes fill with grass
And battlefields and shell holes pass
Into the mist of yesterdays;
But still there lingers word or phrase—
A touch of Western breezy slang
To lend Provencal speech a tang.

Stern battles though the flags be furled,
Will boom in "Say—I'll tell the world!"
And specks of many a valiant fight
Will flash in "Listen!" and "Good night!"

Boy faces grinning wistful, kind,
With each brisk phrase will come to mind;
Boy faces grim and gray and drear,
That still could manage "Whoops, my dear!"
Who called the world's worst war "the fuss,"
In rapid speech incongruous;
Who joked like boys and fought like gods,
And carked "Bloody! What's the odds?"
Reduced the hell of Marne and Roye
To crisp and long-remembered patois.
Those boys who said, "So this is France!"
And, gayly gallant, "took a chance."

There was a parade up Fifth avenue of the Seventy-fifth division of the A. E. F. Far ahead of Maj. Gen. Robert Alexander and his staff, in front even of the police escort, marched 30 men, each carrying a banner bearing 100 gold stars. Behind these 30 men and the banners with the 3,000 gold stars was a gap three blocks long. Said a thick witted man in the reviewing stand:

"Why, these banner-bearers are out of place."
"You fool," stormed his neighbor, "The dead are passing now!"

If all the patriot dead look upon the services of Memorial day, there is a host indeed. For it is almost a century and a half since the struggle to gain and maintain our freedom began.

By the rude bridge that arched the flood,
Their flag to April's breeze unfurled,
Here once the embattled farmers stood
And fired the shot heard round the world

There were giants in those days and no American but is the better American for thinking of them—Washington, Jefferson, Adams, Franklin, Sherman and Livingston, who drafted the Declaration of Independence; Alexander Hamilton; Nathan Hale, who regretted that he had but one life to give for his country; Greene, who outwitted and outthought Cornwallis; George Rogers Clark, who took and held the northwest to the Mississippi; John Paul Jones.

In the War of 1812 the Constitution and the United States and the American privateers out-sailed and out-fought the British on the seas, to the astonishment of the world. Andrew Jackson won the Battle of New Orleans—a decisive American battle that saved us the Mississippi. And the successful defense of Fort Mifflin called forth Francis Scott Key's national hymn, "The Star-Spangled Banner."

Of this be it ever, when freemen shall stand
Between their loved homes and the war's declatation
But a victory and peace may the heaven record land
Praise the power that hath made and preserved us
Then conquer we must, when our cause is just
And The Star-Spangled Banner in triumph shall wave
Over the land of the free and the home of the brave

At Gettysburg and the war drums beat again and the eagles blew, "On to Mexico!" Palo Alto, Buena Vista, Monterrey and Chapultepec are names to conjure with even now. In the short and brilliant Mexican campaign Winfield Scott won fame. Zachary Taylor's record made him President. There Grant earned his first laurels. And did you know that on the pension rolls of a grateful nation there are yet 52 names of veterans of that war, though it closed 75 years ago?

When Abraham Lincoln left his Illinois home for the White House he said to his neighbors, assembled to wish him Godspeed:

There has fallen upon me a task such as did not rest even upon the Father of His Country, and so feeling I cannot but turn and look for that support without which it will be impossible to perform that great task. I turn, then, and look to the great American people and to that God who has never forsaken them.

He was a true prophet. All Christendom stood astounded at the magnitude of the struggle that followed, and the spirit of the combatants. It was American against American. Nor did the American people fail Lincoln. Nor did God forsake the American people. The outstanding fact in American history is the hand of Providence in the affairs of the nation.

But the Civil war is over now and its wounds are healed. Recalling what were the issues of that war and remembering that Appomattox settled those issues right and for all time, we can strew flowers alike for Grant and Lee, for Sherman and Jackson, for Sheridan and Stuart with:

Love and tears for the Blue,
Tears and love for the Gray

As for Lincoln—he stands beside Washington in the hearts of a reunited people.

It was this mighty struggle of American against American that gave us Memorial day. And it was Gen. John A. Logan who, as commander in chief of the Grand Army of the Republic in 1868, established Memorial day. Logan has been in the tomb for 37 years. And now his widow has gone to join him. She was always his constant helpmeet and inspiration; it is likely that she herself brought about Memorial day. Flowers for her grave; the memory of her works will live.

It was only 25 years ago this year that the Maine was blown up in Havana harbor. That meant war, of course. The summer saw it begun, fought and won. And it was an important war. It saw a reunited North and South again fighting under the Stars and Stripes. It made the United States a world power over night. It showed the world that America would fight for the cause of humanity and could forego the fruits of victory. It was notice to the nations that the 1898 American was the same old fighting man on land and sea.

Wouldn't you like to have been on "Fighting Bob" Evans' Iowa at Santiago and seen the band perched on the forward turret, grimy and half-mad, just as they came from the guns, and heard them blare out:

There'll be a hot time in the old town tonight!

It seems only yesterday that the Lusitania went down. And that meant war, too—America's entrance into the World war, the greatest of all history. Doubtless the quiescence of the nation's thought on Memorial day will be in the offerings at the tomb of our "Unknown Dead" in Arlington. Fitting indeed are these words of President Harding, spoken at the burial of this Unknown Soldier:

"We do not know the eminence of his birth, but we do know the glory of his death. He died for his country, and greater devotion hath no man than this. He died unquestioning, uncomplaining, with faith in his heart and hope on his lips, that his country should triumph and its civilization survive. As a typical soldier of this representative democracy, he fought and died, believing in the indisputable justice of his country's cause. . . . We gather him to the Nation's breast, within the shadow of the capitol, of the towering shaft that honors Washington, the great father, and of the exquisite monument to Lincoln, the martyred savior. Here the inspirations of yesterday and the conscience of today forever unite to make the republic worthy of his death for flag and country."

CURIOUS KINDS OF CURRENCY

All Sorts of Materials Are Utilized as Money in Various Parts of the World.

Some extraordinary things are used as money in various quarters of the world.

In Uganda, for instance, the price of a fowl is still two yards of cotton. Two eggs cost a needle, while a couple of old beer bottles will purchase as much firewood as a man can carry. "Salts" and cartridges are common currency with the southern Sudanese. Three cartridges go to a salt, the latter being a bar of crystallized salt ten inches long and five inches thick. Salt coinage is borrowed from Abyssinia, where it has been current for many years.

Tiny quills of gold dust form the standard of value in the highlands of British Guiana. They are worth about $2.50 each. Five of them are the price of a wife among the Indians. A little farther north, on the Mosquito coast of Central America, the natives think most of big Mexican silver dollars.

Jamaica's favorite coin reminds us of the old buccaneering days, when pirates staggered under loads of gold. The doubloon, worth about $10, has been in use in Jamaica for many years, and the coin was only repealed a few years ago.

Counterfeiting must be a common offense in Fiji. Whales' teeth are here the usual currency among the natives. They are generally carried strung round the neck of their owner. But as a red tooth is worth twenty times more than a white one, there is an evident opening for the intelligent use of a cheap bottle of red ink.

A single shell of the "Prince" cowrie has been sold to a collector for about $200, but of the cowries used as money in Burmah it takes 6,000 to make up the value of about 40 cents. Similar shells are the prevailing currency round the Guinea coast.

Only less cumbersome than the last-mentioned is the extraordinary combination of small pieces of copper and zinc British Chinese subjects of Hong Kong carry in long strings. It takes 7,500 of them to equal $5, an amount which one would need a porter to carry, as it would weigh over thirty pounds.

Why Carnegie Founded Libraries.

Even at an early age Andrew Carnegie believed in books. The impulse to found libraries—so we learn from Mr. A. B. Farquhar in "The First Million the Hardest"—came to him when he was only a messenger boy.

Early one morning, says Mr. Farquhar, Carnegie was sent with a dispatch to Mr. Anderson, the steel master of Allegheny, with instructions to wait for an answer. Mr. Anderson had returned late the night before, and the butler said he could not wake him.

Young Carnegie walked into the library and became immersed in a volume on steel making and the tremendous advantages of steel over iron. When Mr. Anderson finally came down with his answer the boy turned and apologized for having taken the book. Mr. Anderson asked whether he was interested in steel.

"Oh, yes, it is fascinating to me," Carnegie replied.

"Take the book home and read it and return it when you are through with it," said Mr. Anderson.

Carnegie did so and was told to take another; then Mr. Anderson said he might have access to the library. Carnegie said to me that then and there he made up his mind that if he ever became wealthy he would found libraries and give young men the same opportunity that he was enjoying.—Youth's Companion.

Transportation.

This is the electrical age. Steam is old-fashioned. But steam still has the right of way. Vehicles of transportation propelled by steam are always holding up vehicles propelled by electricity in Detroit. The record was equalled if not broken the other day when a long train of Pere Marquette freight was left lying across the car tracks on Michigan avenue for between an hour and an hour and a half. The line of freight cars was broken once to allow gas-driven cars to pass, but the electric cars had to wait. The conversation in any of the stalled interurban cars would not have made good publicity for the railroad. Two extra engines had finally to be brought from the roundhouse before the freight train was switched out of the way.

Broadcasting in Ireland.

A radio station, somewhat similar to the Eiffel tower in Paris, but not quite so large, will shortly be erected in Dublin, according to the British press. It will be entirely a government enterprise, and is expected to be situated in the Phoenix park, where there is every facility for such a plant. The Free State authorities, once the station is established, intend broadcasting to towns in the provinces the latest market reports, news, weather bulletins, and so on, which would be of use to the community and would assist trade.—Scientific American.

Rich Mines in the Philippines.

Diamond drilling has proved there are at least 3,000,000 tons of semi-anthraxite besides large deposits of sub-bituminous coal in the Philippine islands. Dr. Warren D. Smith, head geologist of the University of Oregon and authority on the mineral wealth of our antipodal possession, declared recently.

The islands also possess the largest gold mine in the Far East, which has turned out $1,000,000 worth of the precious metal in one year, he said. Petroleum, iron, silver, sulphur and asbestos are also found.

Housekeeper Is Wanted as Nursemaid for a Pup

Unable to get a housekeeper through the usual channels, Howard L. Davis, poultryman and dog fancier of New Egypt, N. J., is advertising for "a nurse for a thoroughbred, pedigree, registered fox terrier pup." The object may be "matrimony if the applicant falls in love with the pup."

"Big wages to the right party" are promised by Davis, who says the big requirements will be to "care for the pup and get his owner a couple of meals a day, make his bed, and keep his house clean."

DARING BANDIT KEEPS TWO STATES TERRORIZED

Spencer's Band of Desperadoes Have Committed Eight Bank Robberies.

Muskogee, Okla.—A revival of the reign of terror which gripped the West when Jesse James was at the height of his career has resulted from the activities of an unmasked bandit who is leading his gang of desperadoes in a series of bank robberies that keeps the border counties of Kansas and Oklahoma terrorized.

A jewelry store and eight banks have been rifled by bandits under his direction in the past year. Rewards totaling $30,000 have been offered for him, dead or alive. This desperado is Al Spencer, who forsook the peaceful pursuits of farming to enter upon a career of banditry.

Spencer, cool, clear-headed and hard as steel, is recognized as a real "bad man." Hence the scores of officers who are scouring the border counties for him are convinced that the only way they can bring him in is in a coffin. Spencer has not resorted to killing as yet, but officers believe he would not hesitate should the necessity arise.

The short, stocky-built man who leads the bandits is an escaped convict. He has made the boast that he does not intend to serve any more time.

His boon companion and confederate is said to be Dick Gregg, a twenty-two-year-old youth, who is also a fugitive from justice. "The bandit of the Osage," as Spencer is known, has his headquarters in the hills near Bartlesville, Okla., it is known.

WRITES HIS "DIARY OF DEATH"

Poisoned Youth Records Each Emotion as He Feels Grim Reaper Coming Nearer.

Hammond, La.—After swallowing 30 grains of arsenic following his rejection by a girl he refuses to name, Harry Devine, twenty years old, staggered ten miles through the moonlight from Tickfaw, La., to Hammond, writing on the way his "diary of death," recording his emotions every quarter-mile. The clear handwriting grew dim as he went on, and one of the last lines was: "Even dying is monotonous." Found unconscious at Hammond, he was revived and may recover.

Two grains of arsenic would have killed him, physicians say, but the excessive amount probably saved his life. The youth was taken to jail, then to a private home. Citizens, mostly women, raised a fund for him. When he was told of the fund, he said:

"I hope I won't die. I'll spend the money on flowers and candy and a diamond ring for her. That ought to get her."

"I don't feel sick. Wonder if death will relieve me."

"I am passing a cemetery. Maybe they will bring me back here tomorrow. I feel I am dying, but I have no regrets."

"I am passing the fair grounds, where I danced with her last month. I guess I'm a fool, but I could not be a fool about anything better on earth or in Heaven than her."

BLOWN UNDER STREET CAR

Child, Walking With Mother, Toppled Over by Wind and Decapitated Before Her Eyes.

Steubenville, O.—Her four-year-old son, James, snatched from her by a terrific blast of wind, toppled into the street, and rolled under a street car, while she stood helpless—forced to watch the grinding wheels of the big car decapitate the lad—this was the ordeal through which Mrs. Anna Baker passed here.

Mrs. Baker was walking with her little son and he playfully ran across the street, leaving his mother on the sidewalk. He was returning to her when a terrific blast of wind picked him up and toppled him over. The momentum and force of the wind rolled the body under the wheels of the oncoming car, his head being cut cleanly from his body.

Mrs. Baker realized her son's danger when he was thrown over by the wind, and with a cry she sprang toward him. But the heavy car had ended the child's life before she reached the rail on which he lay.

The motorman said he saw the boy cross the street, but had not noticed him returning to his mother, nor did he realize that the boy was under his car until he felt the jolt.
